Fixed!

On the right side of the Home menu bar, there's a "fill" button, it looks like a downward arrow. You can use this to fill a series, and thus number rows.

You're going to save this as a pdf, though, right? And the TIC comment is still highlighted.

It all looks good to me. I'm formatting the specific comments, but having trouble... can't re-number the comments column.

Attached are my comments on the General Comments. I did not touch the table at all.

Rachel – I think it would be good if you took a look at this too, since I reworded some of the technical comments. It may be easier to just look at a clean copy (without the redline/strikeout).

I think we should send both the specific and general comments out as Draft/For Discussion Purposes since I think they still need some tweaking and polishing.

Thanks!

They are still a work in progress. Here's what I have so far. The yellow highlights are for the ones we are waiting to hear back from Mike C, Michael and CDM. General comments may be repeated in the spreadsheet, I haven't entirely committed to removing them from the spreadsheet. Both documents need formatting. I'll be in the office tomorrow.
